

Sukhoi produced two designs to meet Soviet Air Force requirements, one with swept wings for day-fighter roles and one with delta wings for limited all-weather interception. Like the MiGs, the two Sukhoi designs appear to be identical except in wing shape. Unlike the MiGs, both are in front-line squadron service in the Soviet Air Force, the swept-wing version being code-named "Fitter".

Sukhoi

look
fight
large
of 2
the
it fr
vent
prod
belo
It i
clus
lage
brak
fuse
E
is fi
retr.
nose
miss
are
carr
sign
I
gue
pot
F
seri
E-6
whi
rec

.....
Drawing by
John W. Wood
.....